

You Loved Me First

Mikeschair

Was it my broken heart that lead me straight to You?
Was it your broken hands that I can not refuse?
Was it my emptiness or was it your empty tomb that pointed me home, pointed Me home, to you?

I should have known all along, You're the One who loved me first
And if I had to save myself, this never would have worked
I wouldn't be in Your arms, I wouldn't know where to start
But You gave your life to prove to me what I was worth
You loved me first

You were pursuing me before the world began
Before there was anything, I was in Your plan
What did you see in me? Help me understand
The depth of your grace, God, I'm amazed, God, I'm amazed

I should have known all along, You're the One who loved me first
And if I had to save myself, this never would have worked
I wouldn't be in Your arms, I wouldn't know where to start
But You gave your life to prove to me what I was worth
And You loved me

When I was wondering, when I was hiding
Jesus you found me and You love me first
God of full mercy, take all the glory
Jesus you found me and You loved me first
You loved me first

I should have known all along, You're the One who loved me first
And if I had to save myself, this never would have worked
I wouldn't be in Your arms, I wouldn't know where to start
But You gave your life to prove to me what I was worth
You gave your life to prove to me what I was worth
You love me first, oh You loved me first, ooh yeah

You love me first
