

Skeleton Key

Miles Away

For all days I spent waiting
The expectation I was craving
Dead dreams that had me chasing
I finally turned them around
As the new day arrives, the lock is broke
And I will listen no more
I won't steady myself for another fall,
That's not asking too much