You Did It All Before

Milla Jovovich

No I haven't seen the flowers yet From the broken seeds I'd planted But the ground is still too red From the wickedness you did

Could you break my heart? It's so easy you know You did it all before You know, you did it all before

Can you feel it? Can you fell this moment? If you could be me The said would be left unsaid

Just refuse my heart Don't abuse my heart You did it all before You know, you did it all before

Your pocket of schemes Has split at the seams I don't need to argue anymore You're left exposed Wearing yesterday's clothes Now you've undone the Stitches we've sewn

Just refuse my heart Don't abuse my heart You did it all before You know, you did it all before

Your pocket of schemes Has split at the seams I don't need to argue anymore You're left exposed Wearing yesterday's clothes Now you've undone the Stitches we've sewn
