Little More Time

An eyelash on your cheek crashed down and broken Decided to leave so it jumped on a tear Since '94 you've been wanting to grow up Since '94 been trying to get out of here

I don't wanna find out whatever I needed I'm way too afraid of what I could find You're losing the thread while I'm losing my head I wish that I will make up my mind

Don't write me off Because I should try hard enough I just need a little more time Don't write me off Because I haven't tried hard enough I just need a little more time

The closer we get the more it looks like we've made it I finally like this time of year The closer you look we get less overrated I hope that next week you'll still be here
