

The Last V8

mind.in.a.box

the guys in white told me to hurry up,
and keep my shield up all the way.
nuclear dust burning my eyes,
makes me wanna go more than 400 miles.

doc in white told me to watch the time,
shield down you're gonna get what you deserve.
but the spirit's up,
and I'm gonna make it today.

the guys in white hide behind their blinking lights,
but I'm gonna crank it up all the way.
the crazy bends drive me all insane,
but I'll stay on track just the same.

doc in white says there's only seconds left,
to find my way through that endless maze.
but the base is up,
and there's no game over today.

and the guy in white would say:
V8, return to base immediately!