

You Will See

mind.in.a.box

when I first met you, I ruled the world.
what you saw, met with your desire.
when I first saw you, I ruled the sky.
what you felt, set your heart on fire.

when I first held you, I thought I'd pass.
what you said, seemed to be the truth.
when I first felt you, I thought I'd melt.
what you were, was the essence of youth.

I felt the warmth,
filtering through your skin.

I had all that I could ask for,
and I thought it to last.
I was so sure of your affection,
and I loved the spell you cast.

I was scaling incredible heights,
propelled by your radiant muse.
I sustained this for a long time,
but I was destined to lose.

I had all that I could ask for,
and I thought it to last.
I was so sure of your affection,
and I loved the spell you cast.

I was basking in all that glory,
thought the end cannot be nigh.
I made plans for our future,
humbled only by the sky.

you will see, I can get back there.
when all was doubt, you laughed at me.
ripped me apart,
there's no future for you and me.

you will see, I can climb up there.
when you lost faith, you turned your back.
destroyed my trust,
there's no future for you and me.

you will see, I won't forgive this.
when you rethink, you won't be heard.
words don't heal,
there's no future for you and me.

you will see, I will survive this.
when I had need, you were not there.
it's too late,
there's no future for you and me.