

Wrong Again

Mindy McCready

I've come to terms, I've made a mess
I've asked forgiveness for my sins
I never should've let you in
Then wrong before, I'll be wrong again

I'd like to vow that I resist
But I hate to break my promises
It's a habit that I can't fake
Then wrong before, I'll be wrong again

I say it's the last time every time you leave
It is so convincing I almost believe
Somewhere inside I know
You're not the right one for me

Underneath the veil of night
I do these things, I know I'm right
One more time will be the end
Then wrong before, I'll be wrong again

I say it's the last time every time you leave
It is so convincing I almost believe
Somewhere inside I know
You're not the right one for me

Come to terms, I've made a mess
Now I've asked forgiveness for my sins
Loneliness is not my friend
Then wrong before, I'll be wrong again

I never should've let you in
Then wrong before, I'll be wrong again, ooh