Fake!

It's fake, its fake Just take everything you hate and make It stand before you and debate its case The reasons why it should be in this place, this place, this place

The game is not To be repeated but just played again Until that most important day, today You say you'll make all of them pay their way to see the grave

I thought I'd start you Off in hell first And then I'd move you To some place that's much worse But safer than death, but safer than death Much safer than death

Minuit