

Love Is Looking for You

Miranda Lambert

Maybe you're just jaded from some nobody's unforgotten words
Maybe you're just faded, a little gray from every time that you
've been hurt
So you're lookin' for your skin that you never did fit in
You can't hide when you're turned inside out
Love is lookin' for you now

Maybe you been burnin' but you can't blow out a flame that you can't find
Maybe you've been thirsty but the rain just ain't enough when y ou're this dry
So you're runnin' from the water and the fire's getting hotter
I think you better find some level ground
Love is lookin' for you now
Love is lookin' for you now

Maybe you been wearin' the shoes that someone else is wearing n ow
Maybe you've been swearin' forever might have already run out
You can't love yourself at the expense of someone else
You can't hide a liar from the truth
Love is lookin' for you
Love is lookin' for you

I've been looking for you

Baby I've been lookin....
I've been lookin' for you
