

Let shine the dimmest light I barely see you through the fog that at will not lift Show yourself the way I knew you With no fear of being pulled by the undertow Into gaping holes You were some one I believed in Few return the same men as they left

You led me through hell my constant north You were someone I be lieved in

To keep you in the sky, untouchable All that they promised you will drag you under To keep you in the sky, untouchable All tha t they promised you will drag you down under the sea

Stay what you are to me I'm losing you A lantern going dark

To keep you in the sky, untouchable All that they promised you will drag you under True colors painted over You were someone I believed in

As they lower the veil The stars no longer guide us Deserted by ghosts of virtue Scraping the bottom
