

Another Like You

Mishka

Will I ever find another like you, really
Will I ever find another so true
Will I ever find another like you really
Will I ever find another so true

You said, you said, you'd stay
Then you left on the very first train
Left me nothing to say
Yeah since you've gone I can't explain

Will I ever find another like you, really
Will I ever find another so true
Will I ever find another like you, really
Will I ever find another so true

Searched the shores alone
Trying to find some trace of you
Your ship went down in the storm
They said, you were the only surviving crew

Will I ever find another like you, really
Will I ever find another so true
Will I ever find another like you, really
Will I ever find another so true

There could never really be another quite like you
There'd never really be another quite like you
Would never really be another

Will I ever find another
Will I ever find another like you