

Take That Shit Back To Baxter

Miss Fortune

Just take me back to the time where everything made sense, where nothing mattered to me, let's run it back again.
I know you miss those days, when everything was okay,
a time when you and me were meant to be friends.

You know it's true that everything I love is riding on all of t his,
and I won't sit by and watch you ruin it again.

We turned our backs on you because you tried to fuck up
everything we'd hope to build.
I won't say I'm sorry, this is what I was made for,
and you're not standing in my way anymore.

Why? How many fucking times have I told you?
You turned a blind eye, so we disowned you.
We didn't even think twice,
we went our separate ways, and now our names are in the lights.

You went and told a sad story about
"how we lied and tried to steal your glory,"
Well, dude, here's some words past due:
You're a joke and our only misfortune was you.

You know it's true that everything I love is riding on all of t his,
and as fun as wasting our time must have been,
I can't believe we even considered doing it again.

We turned our backs on you because you tried to fuck up
everything we'd hope to build.
I won't say I'm sorry, this is what I was made for,
and you're not standing in my way anymore.

Why? How many fucking times have I told you?
