

Trust My Heart (Never Hope To Die)

Miss May I

I always trust my heart and never hope to die
Trust my heart and never hope to die

Followed an empty road
Without any direction of where I should go
All I can say is that I've made it too far to wish for the end

I've come too far just to let this go
No plan in my head, my heart is all I know
One day at a time until I find my pace
My dreams will never die, they are all I see

No turning back, even when it's the only direction
There's a lion's will inside of me beating harder, inspiring
When the flatline comes, I have to be the one who will carry
Myself through the trials of life, finding no surrender in sight

There's no surrender in sight
No surrender in sight
No surrender

I will trust my heart and I will never hope to die

I've come too far just to let this go
No plan in my head, my heart is all I know
One day at a time until I find my pace
My dreams will never die, they are all I see

They are all I see
My dreams will never die
They are all I see
They are all I see
There's no surrender in sight
There's no surrender
