

Addicted To Crying

Miss Montreal

I've been addicted to crying these days
I never thought it would happen to me
The long road went good, until last month
It seems to me that nobody stays

Everyone loses but I always win
They lay down beside me to say

Can you deal with this problem, that takes all your time
And I wanna cry
To think, how did you get there, people just die
And I wanna cry

Seeing the usual of everything
Except when I know that you're here
I feel a presence, I hate to know you're here
So that is why I live day by day

Everyone loses but I always win
They lay down beside me to say

Can you deal with this problem, that takes all your time
And I wanna cry
To think, how did you get there, people just die
And I wanna cry
And I wanna cry

I'm waiting for you to tell you I need you
I'm waiting for you to tell you I need you
I need you nowadays

I've been addicted to crying these days
I never thought it would happen to me
The long road went good, until last month
It seems to me that nobody stays
