

So This Is Home

Miss Montreal

You're waking up now, to see it all much clearer
It's over your head now
Just walk when I give you all my fears and

It's over gone, you're back on the ground

So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when you're on your own
So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when you're all alone

You're coming home

You're doing fine now, but is it really worth it
When it's all safe and sound
You know it all so why don't you just go break this

It's over gone, you're back on the ground

So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when you're on your own
So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when your all alone

You're coming home

Stronger, faster, better, more than you expected
Take it easy, take it easy
Don't do things that you just might regret someday
Take it easy, you don't need me

So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when you're on your own
So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when you're on your own
So this is home, so this is home
It's so much easier when your all alone

You're coming home
