Chasing This

MisterWives

I'm sorry that I'm not around I've been chasing my dreams with my head in the clouds Years pass and my friends are all gone I guess it seems I got lost in this song

Come home to dust in my bed To plants that have died from lack of being fed Missed funerals and birthdays Never meant to miss life when I was away, away

We've been chasing this, all of our years It goes far beyond all our blood, sweat and tears, Oh We've been chasing this, all of our years Want it so bad, you're willing to face all your fears

You've been told, that you're never gonna get it You've been told, that you're never gonna get it But you know, that what's burning you's brighter than gold, and I'll chase i t till the day that I go

Remember the night that we walked, from Bleecker to Ditmars Oh and we talked of our dreams till the sunrise Over the Queensborough bridge with our eyes open wide Still keep that moment with me When we're up on this stage screaming victory Oh I'm terrified of who I would be if I never had a melody Terrified of who I'd be

We've been chasing this, all of our years It goes far beyond all our blood, sweat and tears, Oh We've been chasing this, all of our years Want it so bad, you're willing to face all your fears

You've been told, that you're never gonna get it You've been told, that you're never gonna get it But you know, that what's burning you's brighter than gold, and I'll chase i t till the day that I go

Oh the doubt paves my insides, body so tense its paralyzed Fearful of these butterflies But they're just your friends dressed in disguise But they're just your friends dressed in disguise And we'll take their wings to reach great heights

1, 2, 3, 4

We've been chasing this, all of our years It goes far beyond all our blood, sweat and tears, Oh We've been chasing this, all of our years Want it so bad, you're willing to face all your fears

You've been told, that you're never gonna get it You've been told, that you're never gonna get it But you know, that what's burning you's brighter than gold, and I'll chase i t till the day that I go