

Transcend

Mnemic

Holes in the fabric of the soul
Like whispers from a rotting corpse
The cancer of your carelessness
Swimming so treacherous

The falling motionless into venture
If only I could transcend away

Into a place where all emotions fade away
Escape from an animated system of imperfections
The world runs empty of ways

I'm swimming through this nightmare
Where black waves pull me under

Black is the fuel running through this membrane
Frozen corpse eyes starring blind
Only smiling faces trapped in the grave
How long before this silence fades

I'm swimming through this nightmare
Where black waves pull me under

In another place where memories will fade
Choking underneath these waves
Why have you forsaken me
I can't see any future anymore

If I could just transcend away
Into a place where all emotions will fade

Transcend
Transcend

I'm swimming through this nightmare
Where black waves pull me under