

Ice And Fire

Mob Rules

My life has been lost in shadows
My thoughts have gone up in smoke
The days that we've spent out on meadows
Increased all my fear and hopes

Can't have for fame and glory
Just keep what I rarely get Before I will tell my whole story
I bless all the friends I have had
Fight for the things that you'll never forget in your life

Walking on ice and fire
And creeping on poisoned grounds
Still longing for same desires
Feel that I'm still around
In touch to what I really was

Dreams were going so wrong now
I feel my breathing has slowed down
Running in circles and losing my path
Running around with a mask

Remember my poor desperation
The time I was down in dirt
I saw that a godless creation
Can do things that really hurt

Fight for the things that you'll never forget in your life

Run before they can come
It's better to hide and leave all your dreams behind
Cause man is cruel, is a beast is fighting the truth
Commits the most vicious crimes
Life is so hard when you find out
The beast in the average men

So run before they've begun before
They can rape and turn out the beast in you
And go on the top of a hill find out
That you see your fate is your life in truth

Fight for the things that you'll never forget in your life
