Put me on the train, send me back to my home Couldn't live without you when I tried to roam Put me by the window, let me see outside Looking at the places where all my family died

Leave me by the churchyard, leave me on my own Someone came and take me back to my home Put me by the window, let me see outside Looking at the places where all my family died

Put me on the train, send me back to my home Put me on the train, send me back to my home Put me on the train, send me back to my home Put me on the train, send me back to my home Put me on the train, send me back to my home
