

The Blue Light of the Underwater Sun

Moby

Now close your eyes and relax
Feel the warmth of the sun
And imagine yourself as a beautiful dolphin

You are swimming and playing in the vast ocean
You sail up and over the waves, glistening in the warm sun
And snapping your strong tail

Now you're going deep, swimming and exploring
The wonders of the mighty sea
Schools of brightly colored fish and banks of coral
All illuminated by the blue light of the underwater sun

There in the distance you see a vast school of fast Tuna
And you start to chase them
And suddenly you're caught in a drift net
Laid by commercial fisherman and you start to panic
