People as Places as People

Modest Mouse

To answer a question It'll probably take more If you're already there Well then you probably don't know Well we were the people That we wanted to know And we're the places that we wanted to go It's hard to get hold of And hard to let go Always something we look for From the day we were born Instead we're the people that we wanted to know And we're the places that we wanted to go Yeah we're the places that we wanted to go We're the places that we wanted to go

Always asking a question And I don't want to know Like the wind across strings That had finally let go And the people you love But you didn't quite know They're the places that you wanted to go Bark at the neighbors And then bark at the dog Sniffing the wind Whimpering for someone to know But we were the people that we wanted to know And we're the places that we wanted to go Yeah we're the places that we wanted to go

It was not the intention But we let it all go Well it messed up the function And sure fucked up the flow I hardly have people that I needed to know 'Cause you're the people that I wanted to know All this scrambling around Hunting high and then low Looking for the face love Or somewhere to go I hardly have places that I need to go 'Cause you're the places that I wanted to go Yeah you're the places that we wanted to go

You're the people that we wanted to know Shouldn't have to ask You shouldn't have to ask 'Cause we are your real place
