Madrid - Changes

Modwheelmood

look at me
i'm turning into tragedy can't believe it's happening i'm not alive but i'm breathing every day i'm in a cage every thing is going through the changes the changes promises

the reason to this argument i'm able to deny the fact no one comes to this extent to look for something better than the one before every one is scared of all the changes the changes

relax

there's always someone else who finds the time it takes to find another way you learn to crawl better days are here to stay every one is counting on the changes the changes regrets

it's always someone else who finds the time it takes to find another way to learn to crawl

better days are here to stay every one is counting on the changes the changes