Money For Good

Modwheelmood

Come again don't leave me on my own embrace the God I used to call my own Everyday I'm living on my own forgive me for the things I leave untold Keep on coming keep on crawling Everything is falling and pushing me Far away from everything I used to be and remember why everyone must go Hello far away from everything you should have said would be better now everything is wrong far away from anything I should be singing Holiday you're spending on your own you're searching for an answer to it all Sweet embrace you lost that long ago then memories remind you what you own Keep on coming keep on crawling Everything is falling and pushing me Far away from everything I used to be and remember why everyone must go Hello far away from everything you should have said would be better now everything is wrong far away from anything I should be singing Money for good
