

Somebody That's Good

Moe Bandy

By now the sun's at your window
Teasing the sleep from your eyes
And the clock that I gave you last Christmas
Is ringing it's 6:45.

And as you lay there with sunshine all around you
I can see how your mornin' comes alive
Two sugars one cream in your coffee
And work's just a nine minute drive.

It's bad to know somebody that good
It hurts to know all about you
It's bad to know somebody that good
When I'm tryin' to forget that I do.

It's been quiet a while since I've seen you
So I only know what I hear
But there's somebody taking my place now
And the pictures my mind draws are clear.

It's bad to know somebody that good
It hurts to know all about you
It's bad to know somebody that good
When I'm tryin' to forget that I do.

When I'm trying to forget that I do...
