

Diamond In My Hand

Molly Johnson

I've been overwhelmed, I've been made to fade
I've been all alone, I've left beds unmade
I've left things unsaid. I have run and wept
I can walk away or I can dig real deep
I can keep on looking or I can fall asleep
Laid out on my back stare into the night
Where I swear I see signs of life

I would light your torch, I could carry your flame
If you had the chance would you do the same
All I know is what I have got a diamond in my hand

You can be my friend or something else to me
You can lend a hand or just wash out to sea
When I look around I know what I need
But I have found a jewel in this rocky ground

Held it in my hand turned it all around
I stretched out my arms, held them way up high
And I looked to the sky, the dark blue sky

Cause I got nothing here, nothing left to lose
To say anymore would just confuse
All I know is what I have, got a diamond in my hand
I would light your torch, I could carry your flame
If you had the chance would you do the same
All I know is what I have got a diamond in my hand

You can take it day by day
Save your soul any old way
Can't ya hear me calling
Quick now, think you're falling
