

Living Misery

Morbid Saint

Tortured by the thoughts that rage inside helpless feelings that I cannot hide Wanting to release the pain tearing at my mind corruption taking it's toll from the inside

Starvation taking life from the weak humans falling down in defeat Cannot change the path which they foresee
feel the pain of living misery

All my life I've grown to see Pain suffering misery Why don't they help make an effort for the cause They don't know that it's too far gone

Through the duration of man and beast only the strong have survived Creating a destruction too great to control human race dies before my eyes

Over population through vast wasted land many souls have fallen to their grave Endless victims drop to their knees watching their lives slip away

Emotions playing games with my mind endlessly making my thoughts go blind Cannot stop to see reality help me save me let my soul be free

Starvation taking life from the weak
humans falling down in defeat
Cannot change the path which they foresee
feel the pain of living misery
