Drowning Sun

Land (in flight, quicker) creatures (in the grind) With (hold their heads), stumbeling around Sky (in black, figures we're all mutilated) With cold eyes, broken eyes, (it's just not worth) to survive

Through the (forest of what's own) (shred the) technical errors Let them face the fact they're alone With the drowning sun

A sky in black Touch the sun No turning back Nowhere to run

Don't try to hide from the radiation, toxication See the sky in black and the drowning sun (life) born into a (fortress of a) termination, deformation No one to blame (but) everyone

Back from dream of the one that should not be I raise my hands to the warming sun Still so real the [edge of each] catastrophe The black sky and the drowing sun

A sky in black Touch the sun No turning back Nowhere to run

Don't try to hide from the radiation, toxication See the sky in black and the drowning sun (life) born into a (fortress of a) termination, deformation No one to blame (but) everyone