

No Shame

Moriah Peters

I hear what you're saying
At the end of the other line
What you said, you'd never do again
You did it one more time

You're crushed and you're hopeless
'Cause you fell to the weakness
You feel like a fool
Wonder if there's grace enough for you

He knows your name
Every tear you cry
He knows the pain
How you feel alone

Feel the weight of the blame
But mercy longs to reach us
In the arms of Jesus
There is no shame

Your world's been shattered
And your heart's torn in two
'Cause you've done something
That you can't undo

You can't deny and you can't pretend
The loss of the innocence
And you wish you could forget
Another midnight of all your regret

He knows your name
Every tear you cry
He knows your pain
How you feel alone

Feel the weight of the blame
But mercy longs to reach us
In the arms of Jesus
There is no shame

Once you know He's forgiven you
And you've forgiven yourself, too
Let His mercy flow
Till you're white as snow

He knows your name
Every tear you cry
He knows the pain
How you feel alone

Feel the weight of the blame
But mercy longs to reach us
In the arms of Jesus
There is no shame