Shake The Cage

Morning Parade

Berate and sing songs of ignorance A heart so filled up with insolence Carefree and unsung your cross to bear Like a wasp in a jar just gasping for air

You shake the cage The cage

Where once your words fell upon your plate Through space and through time they permeate We want to live a life less ordinary now We want to take a bite and taste the cherry now Your tongue longs for the bittersweet Your tongue

Shake the cage The cage You shake the cage The cage