Kick the Bride Down the Aisle

Morrissey

Kick the bride down the aisle

And make no mistake It's the best you can do for everyone's sake

Kick the bride down the aisle And treasure the day I know so much more than I'm willing to say

She just wants a slave To break his back in pursuit of a living wage So that she can laze and graze For the rest of her days Write down every word I say

Kick the bride down the aisle In a mudslide of gloom She'll order you to tidy your room

Kick the bride down the aisle Look at that cow in the field It knows more than your bride knows now

She just wants a slave To break his back in pursuit of a living wage So that she can laze and graze For the rest of her days Write down every word I say

You're that stretch of the beach That the tide doesn't reach No meaning, no reason The lonely season

Kick the bride down the aisle And treasure the day
