

And when you slam down the hammer
Can you see it in your heart?
All of the rumours keeping me rounded
I never said that they were completely unfounded
So when you slam down the hammer
Can you see it in your heart?
Can you delve so low?
And when you're standing on my fingers
Can you see it in your heart?
And when you try to break my spirit
It won't work because there's nothing left to break anymore
All of the rumours keeping me rounded
I never said that they were
completely unfounded
You won't sleep until the earth that wants me Finally has me
oh you've done it now
You won't rest until the heart that becomes me Finally takes me
oh you've done it now

And you won't smile until my loving mouth is shut good and proper FOREVER
All of the rumours keeping my rounded
I never said that they were
completely unfounded
and all those lies writtens lies, twisted lies well, they weren't lies they weren't lies
they weren't lies
I never said I never said
I could have mentioned your name I could have dragged you in guilt by implication by association
I've always been true to you in my own strange way
I've always been true to you in my own sick way I'll always stay true to you