There Is a Place

Morten Harket

Baby, there is a place for you and me Sooner or later we shall see Through the tears we cry

And baby, our time has only just begun We are different, we are one What more do we need

There's a silent world Shining from afar There's a drop of life Among the stars That is where we humans are

Put your darker thoughts aside Lay back in my arms tonight Everything is right

And join me All the things that we will see Soon will turn to memories We better stay awake Every morning brakes

And, there's a silent world Shining from afar Just a drop of life Among the stars That is where we humans are
