

Steal Away

Mostly Autumn

If I were to steal you, and capture your mind
And open your heart, and leave far behind,
A home where your problems lie eating away at your time.

In the whispering night, where the stars are the light
And the moon reflects on the still of the lake.
Majestic the mountains stand shadowed in the still of the night
.

Oh, caught in perspective the meaning of it all,
The trees and the fall.
Oh, caught in creation, nature knows why,
We live and we die. We live and we die.

The wind, rain and snow on your body
Helps you feel you're alive the wind,
Rain and snow on your body
Helps you know this is your time.

Oh, caught in perspective the meaning of it all,
The trees and the fall.
Oh, caught in creation, nature knows why,
We live and we die. We live and we die.