

Blindfolded

Motorpsycho

It's eady after all that's been said and done to you the sun ain't gonna set unless you want it to it's an easy bet that you're sensing their honesty and poetry is makebelive come on give in, say it straight now, whatever goes down

As always: somewhere else is a better place to be you will never know unless you've been there obscured in misery, tired of guilt-tripping up and down, you've been around aimlessly

Eyes brighter, your touch is lighter still I can feel the strain so good to complain, so good to complain, so good but I'm looking forward, I don't get bored 'cause I never felt certain who's behind the curtain

So when you wish to go away to heaven knows, some place to pray what am I to say?
it's not easy to watch the way you push yourself on down

But I still adore you , I'm happy for you as long as I'm blindfolded, I'm blindfolded

It's easy after all if you feel like going home you are free to go and who can stop you and I'll be standing by, watching - waiting 'till we're done having fun and say goodbye
