

So now you've found all the letters that you wrote they look kinda silly now it's such a lucky strike that you never even mailed them. they'll never catch you, there's no evidence or proof avoidance is foolproof she'll never know just what she missed

It feels so good to feel again those heavies laughing can laugh themselves to death they never figured it they never saw it like you did so sweet, so soft, so shure, so scary, and in the end it'll all be forgotten in a month

It feels so good to feel again