

Leave It Like That

Motorpsycho

They all look the same when their dreams unfold endless clutching at straws that will never hold all the pain and the weight of the world-there's no way to look any other way that rage I can understand there's no book of rules and no masterplan just «facts» that will change overnight and no way to look any other way skin deep, potentially grand left alone it will grow 'till it's outta handoutta sight and outta mind

Leave it like that (4x) don't take my guilt on, that's only mine to bear: just do your thing, cos you're the only one that really cares and leave it like that.....
