

Sister Confusion

Motorpsycho

Sister Confusion sleeps out on my doorstep she's out there knocking on my door what do you want this time? how can a blind lead the blind? it's alright, just you step right inside to my fireplace
I know your pleasures too well to refuse soothe me so I may sleep lead me on paths too far and steep I know that you can hurt me you can make me do things I don't want to do
Sister Confusion
when the day is dawning and the night's still yawning you show me the way on through the day but I warn you ,sister-all your crazy mixtures might make me lose myself
Sister Confusion
what it all comes down to is when I'm around you I'm losing control, losing it all
and the road I'm walking, it dissolves into nothing why do I just fuck things up? oh, why?
Sister Confusion
