

Where Two Bodies Lie

Moving Mountains

When you don't see the fall
You'll know by now
Just how it feels
Well you've got more to learn from this
I heard you say
You laid your hands upon my face

Don't forget me here
I won't forget you
Parked cars and night fall
Places that remember you

We walk along the path
We've walked a thousand times in our past
Well you've got more to learn from this
So hold my hand, and hold your breath

Because you mean everything to me
So just let go of everything between
I am scared of dying so bad
But aren't we all scared?

Someday we'll find
Our hearts will align and
Burn all the way
Burn with time

Someday we'll find
Our hearts will align and
Burn all the way
Burn with time