

Cold Tears And Coffee Cake

Mozart Season

Well this all seems so strange,
My whole life has been re-arranged,
And this song is so fake,
And loving you is just a big mistake I made,
And now I can see, you should have meant nothing to me,
And cold tears go best with warm coffee,

Well How could you give up now after all we've been through,
And I know you never loved me but I always loved you,
I know all about the lies you told and I think that I brought e very word you sold,
Why do you live without that misery,
I know that it hurts now, I'm staring at your face!

I'm wasted and paralysed,
And so I half believed your lies,
But then I think about your perfect smile,
It makes me wanna go back in time just for a while,
Your hand wrapped so tight in mine,
How we watch the sun set for the last time,
That was all fake and warm tears go best with warm coffee.

Well How could you give up now up after all we've been through,
And I know you never loved me but I always loved you,
I know all about the lies you told,
And I think that I brought every word you sold,
Why do you live without that misery,
I know that it hurts now, I'm staring at your face!

No,
I give you my heart,
And you smash it in the ground, No.
You've thrown it out the window,
Tonight, tonight,
No, no, no, no, no, no.