

Hole in the Sun

Mr. Big

I dream in colors
And the people I used to be
Tomorrow never mattered
A trip on the scale of lunacy

I was a passenger
In a life I was only passing through
An angel with a dirty face
With a smile on a lie that could make it seem true

How would you ever know it - how the story goes
Painting footsteps on the road - you never know

I saw the world with diamonds in my eyes
And I'd take my heart and throw it in the sky
I believed that I'd be forever young
I could burn a hole in the sun

I'm turning the pages
Back when time was a friend of mine
How everything changes
Jump from the fun and you never think twice

How would you ever know it - how the story goes
Painting footsteps on the road - you never know

I saw the world with diamonds in my eyes
And I'd take my heart and throw it in the sky
I believed that I'd be forever young
I could burn a hole in the sun
