By Her Own Hand

Mudhoney

She cut her face in the mirror last night Trying to get through to another side

She says she doesn't understand men's pride She says she can not stand her life

She's looking for any way out I can't stand what she's thinking about

I want to tell her everything will be all right But I love her too much, too much to lie

She's looking for any way out I can't stand what she's thinking about She's looking for any way out I can't stand what she's thinking about