What's This Thing?

Mudhoney

Can you feel it on the inside? Can you feel it looking out? When perceptions just won't blend Do they feed your rising doubt?

What's this thing you call me

It's scratching just beneath the surface It's that thing that makes up everyone Every snowflake is unique until it melts And there's no stopping the sun

You're just like everybody else With our deluded sense of self We're just like everybody else We're just like everybody else We're just like everybody else

What's this thing I call me
