12:97:24:99

Mudvayne

The sublime destroys the boundaries of finiteness Yet this phenomenon is seen by the self Not as an act of destruction, but rather As a kind of elevation and liberation

For it is in the feeling of infinitude Which it now discovers within itself That it may enjoy a new experience Within its own boundlessness