

Rain. Sun. Gone.

Mudvayne

So far, left with nothing, hanging by a memory,
No stars, to give me one wish, so lost in the dark,
Feels like I'm caving in from the outside.
All right, all wrong, see you again, so long.
Nothing matters anymore at all,
Nothing matters anymore.

Life's not meant to be disposable!
Lost. Found. Dead.
Ready, and willing, can't stop the bleeding!
Life's not meant to be expendable!
Rain. Sun. Gone.
Left robbed unwilling, can't fight the feeling.

So low, overwhelming, clinging to a tragedy.
So clear, hear weeping voices, tears fall in the dark.
Feels like I'm carving in from the outside.
So lost, so gone, so wrong.

Life's not meant to be disposable!
Lost. Found. Dead.
Ready, and willing, can't stop the bleeding.
Life's not meant to be expendable!
Rain. Sun. Gone.
Left robbed unwilling, can't fight the feeling.

It's never ending,
Never goes away,
But you did...
It's never ending,
Never goes away,
But you did.
Why...
The body's just a vehicle to hold, until we find
Another space,
Find another place, to start this over,
The enemy, the action I can't condone, do you suffer with me,
Can I give you my loss, to feel, to hold close,
Can I give you my pain, to feel, to be eaten alive by conscience.
Suffer, fucking suffer, suffer like me.

Life's not meant to be disposable!
Lost. Found. Dead.
Ready, and willing, can't stop the bleeding!
Life's not meant to be expendable!
Rain. Sun. Gone.
Left robbed unwilling, can't fight the feeling!