The War Inside

Mushroomhead

How could such potential go unrealized The natives speak in tongues and tangled truths while chanting diatribes Somewhere deep down in the subconscious wrapped in riddles lies The meaning of this life we try to find but only lose our minds

Through my blind desperation soul solely rages on Social defacing here my replacement comes Rumors of cutbacks harbored hypocrisy My heart dwells in darkness My body imprisons me

Breakdown - All the walls have fallen My soul solely rages on Storm the palace seize the crown Soul solely rages Whispered winds soon sound the calling My soul solely rages on Betray your malice heed your vows On

Victory misery glory defeat The war inside pushing me Brings me to bleed I thank you all for the laughs Just like the poison in me Raise a glass for my father then put me to sleep

Breakdown - All the walls have fallen My soul solely rages on Storm the palace seize the crown Soul solely rages Whispered winds soon sound the calling My soul solely rages on Betray your malice heed your vows On

Erase those saccharine smiles vague in their sincerity Lift these veiled chains in an endless race for clarity Barely hanging on to a faith I'd briefly known I've seen an angels face, the broken wings on which she'd flown Emotion fades to faceless as we soon become sedate Is it time to mourn this loss or is it time to celebrate

Through my blind desperation soul solely rages on Social defacing here my replacement comes Rumors of cutbacks harbored hypocrisy My heart dwells in darkness My body imprisons me

Breakdown - All the walls have fallen My soul solely rages on Storm the palace seize the crown Soul solely rages Whispered winds soon sound the calling My soul solely rages on Betray your malice heed your vows On and on and on and on Soul solely rages on