

Back and forth the same
be careful how you frame your argument
your argument

We've been given all we can and it finally showed the end of our tolerance
our tolerance

I know it's hard to say
but throw it all away
But the odds are
we'd be better off

And it's a painful thought
to try another start
but the odds are
we'd be better off

Cast another vote
In our sad terminal
Democracy
Democracy

The word is out on us
we have gone delirious
The floor is falling out from under us It always does!

I know it's hard to say
but throw it all away
But the odds are
we'd be better off

And it's a painful thought
to try another start
but the odds are
we'd be better off...