One Way Window

There's barriers in my mind that I think about all the time and I know there's no way past them I can never get away from the things that people say well I guess that's just part of it all my one way window where I can't hide my one way window where I can't see the other side MxPx