Closer

My Favorite Highway

Well I've been thinking about what I said No baby, no need to talk about it Well I've been playing it back in my head No thanks, think I'll get by without it

Well I've been thinking about what I said No baby, no need to talk about it Well I've been rollin' around in your bed No thanks, think I'll get by without it

You can't explain why you're feeling alone Falling asleep to a dial tone
You dream about the trouble you're in
Then you pray that something fits

I wanna say that we're getting closer every day

You know you can't stop when you're racing the clock, c'mon This heart's a bomb and we're setting it off, alright

They're handing me the numbers and figures, yeah Try and calculate the ways I've been jaded Nothing adds up so I end up frustrated I'm giving up on love it's so overrated

You hear the knock, will you open the door? You try and fight, but its hard to ignore You fall apart; spill your heart on the floor I think its time that we settled the score

Well the moment will come when you're all alone Thats the moment I know when you'll say
