

Planetary Breathing

MyGrain

World manifestation, return to concealment
Expansion, contraction, salvation through devastation Universal movement like heart beat, awakening and falling asleep
p
Inhale, exhale – synchronized with galactic breath

Again I leave and return, depart and reappear Awaken back to sleepless dreams, to the abyss of endless streams
s
The journey, undefinable eternity
The origin, undescribable infinity

I am the grains of sand, I am the omniverse

Christ of crusader, death illustrator
Depriver of the universe, spreading organisms of the curse
Black star gazer, planet desolator
Return to origin of life and death, sowing the seed of eternal breath

Exploration of mysterious alliance
Fractions of universe, the legacy unciphers Unnumbered consciousness coalesced to one Connected to planetary breathing
(Breathe a sign of leviathan)

Eternal grasp of expiration, pendulum in equilibrium
In apocalypse nothingness, interstellar breeze of wilderness
Quantum mechanics of morbid soul, through umbilical cord of silver and gold
Of artificial intelligence, superfluous neuroactive energy

Inhale, exhale – a sigh inflames leviathan air waves
Apocalypse in microcosmic you, now reclaim the pain

Macrocosm in microcosmic you, the leviathan point of view Blood cells to redshift threshold, emit the light to suction of black holes
Wavelength red end of the spectrum, light years beyond the body functions
Distorted time of event horizon, I see through my hand, the vital crimson

I am the grains of sand, I am the omniverse
I am the vacuum space of silence, I am the complex truth