

Dreams Of Reality

Myriads

My impressions, my memories, like a spirit's biology Feeling the silent breeze through the branches, caressing my dreams peacefully in harmony Sensitive signs entangle my mind

An alien activity
Myriads of atoms converging to cells
creating my memories,
this cosmos of chaos in me

My inner slumber, streams of reflections, veils of impressions, misty diffusion Transparent visions, the center of me

The alien activity
Myriads of atoms converging to cells
creating my memories,
this cosmos of chaos in me

The freezing winds in your mind stir up your sense of time Like the dark quakes from below ruin your self-control

Whisperings from me shimmering, I am like an asp-tree shaking in the wind which carry my leaves

Your reality is shaped by your dreams
What is confusing me? I am losing control Awakened surreality affects your fantasy
I am awake with my fantasies Entwine in unity, strengthening your belief Far away from nature's true activities
All-embracing chemistry
I have dreams of reality

River of visions hidden by my body, opens this flowing, unlimited dimension of mine Reality of memories

This alien activity
Myriads of atoms converging to cells
creating my memories,
this cosmos of chaos in me

This unknown activity of yours Consists of atoms converging to cells
They create your memories
They build a chaos of cosmos in you
